Preschool childcare in The Hague

For all children from The Hague aged 2.5 to 4

WHY

is preschool childcare good for your child?

- ✓ Playing and having fun with other children.
- ✓ Playing outside together.
- ✓ Early practice with letters and numbers.
- ✓ Discovering new things together.
- ✓ Crafting, learning to share, singing songs and eating together.
- ✓ And much more!

All children from The Hague aged 2.5 to 4 are welcome at the local preschool childcare facility. At that age, nothing is more fun than playing and learning together!

Playing and learning

Every preschooler in The Hague can attend preschool childcare for eight hours a week. Costs are low and children with an Ooievaarspas can attend free of charge. Some preschoolers need a bit more time and attention than others. They are entitled to a number of additional hours of playing and learning free of charge, attending 16 hours a week. They can do so at over 130 locations throughout the city – both preschool childcare facilities and children's day care facilities. These dedicate more time and attention to practising letters and numbers, physical exercise or independence. The nurse at the Youth and Family Centre (CJG) for The Hague will determine whether your child is eligible for these additional free hours of preschool care.

What are the costs?

The costs will vary depending on your personal situation. Children with an Ooievaarspas can attend free of charge. For the lowest incomes, costs will amount to approximately 10 euros a month.

You can calculate what preschool childcare will cost you quickly and easily at vraagjufmina.nl. Otherwise, you can always ask someone at your local childcare facility to find out for you. They would be happy to help.
